GALLAUDEY COLLEGE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

VOLUME IX, No. 48

WELCOME!

The 1979-80 academic year has the possibility of being the best of years and the most tedious of years, says Dr. Merrill in his annual welcome message.

The new college structure went into operation during the summer, and during this year and for the future is expected to offer increasing opportunities for college students to enter programs which interest them. Many curriculum changes and innovations lie ahead as the new structure begins to function.

Dormitory V was completed on schedule, and now houses upperclass students. Rooms were assigned on the basis of "areas of interest", a move which offers students still other opportunities to extend their interests and to make new friends. Near-completion is the beautiful new Kendall Demonstration Elementary School; the structure should be completed by January 1980. The Learning Center should be finished during the summer of 1980, and in full use during the fall semester of 1980.

Construction means progress, but it also means temporary inconvenience. The Gallaudet College Auditorium will be closed during the fall semester for structural repairs and the beginning of construction of an annex on its east side. The SUB and Ely Hall relocation is nearly completed, and the two buildings will be reconstructed and renovated into a single Student Union Complex, housing most student support functions. Meanwhile, we will lose the Rathskeller as a lunch stop during the day. In its temporary location in Dormitory IV, the Rathskeller has space enough only to serve students.

The GCAA has launched its fund-raising drive to restore Old Gym to its former beauty and grandeur. It will become an alumni house and faculty center. Finally, funding for the field house, north of the present auditorium, appears imminent; thus, we could see parking become even more limited.

Dr. Merrill concludes that no institution that serves 2,000 people on a residential basis and approximately 15,000 people on a part-time basis is without growing pains and problems. But there are few problems that cannot be solved if all of us are committed to the mission of this institution and resolve to work together to achieve it.

We join Dr. Merrill in welcoming you to the beginning of the 1979-80 academic year.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED
